Energy

We've served the oil & gas industry since 1950. Our survey teams are equipped with the right tools, training, and experience. We have an innovative style, a dedication to the precision of the trade, and our commitment to the satisfaction of our clients is paramount.

Our experienced environmental team has a long-standing relationship with state and federal agencies to ensure efficiency of time and resources throughout the regulatory process. Paying close attention to details, our experts effectively navigate permitting requirements to satisfy the needs of our clients.

This dedication to quality and service is what we call The Fenstermaker Difference.
